WE NOMINATE

Charles Rosenbury Erdman, one of the Princeton Community's most honored and beloved citizens, who this weekend—a month away from his 92d birthday—will calmly observe the 72d anniversary of his graduation from Princeton University. At an age when most men forswear any kind of physical activity, Erdman will join the Alumni P-Rade to University Field, the lone representative of the Class of 1886, and will step down Prospect in the company of his son, grandson and great-grandson. To the best of his recollection, Erdman has not missed a reunion since completing his undergraduate studies.

Professor Emeritus of Practical Theology at the Seminary and formerly pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Erdman over the span of years has probably made more friends throughout the world than any other living Princetonian. A tireless traveler, he served on the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions for 38 years and for nearly half of that period was Board President. In 1925 he was elevated to the highest office the Presbyterian Church in this country can confer, Moderator of the General Assembly.

The author of nearly 30 volumes, the most recent of which, "Remember Jesus Christ," was published this year, Erdman has been a pivotal figure in the development of Princeton. Nearly four decades ago he helped found the Y.M.C.A. and has since been closely associated with the forward movement of the Westminster Choir College, the Princeton Symphony Orchestra and any number of service organizations. Several hundred miles to the north, his boundless interest in his fellow men is being memorialized by the construction of the Erdman Parish Hall of the Adirondack Community Church of Lake Placid.

While his pace has slowed, he was in his middle-80's when a Princeton classmate called him "the clerical sprinter of 1886." This is a listing of the commitments that inspired the cogent description: "a series of Lenten lectures in Philadelphia, two addresses a day in Lynchburg, Va., during Holy Week, a course of Bible lectures at the Choir College in April and May, a series of June lectures before the Synod of the Mid-South, preaching at Lake Placid in July and daily addresses in August before the Montreat, N. C., Bible Conference."

Erdman, the son of a Presbyterian minister and born in Fayetteville, N. Y., the year after the Civil War had rolled to its close, was ordained in 1891 following his graduation from the Seminary. He and Mrs. Erdman, the former Estelle Pardee, of Germantown, Pa., established their home here in 1906 and a fortnight ago celebrated their 66th wedding anniversary. Possibly the only plaint Erdman has ever been heard to express was the recent report from an admiring friend that he misses his regular nine-hole tours of the Springdale Golf Club.

Thirty-three years ago, in receiving an honorary degree from Princeton, he was cited in these words: "Faithful to the standards of his church, fully observant of the rights of others, peaceable in spirit and intent on doing good to all men as he has opportunity." For all that he exemplifies, he is Town Topics' nominee for

This Is PRINCETON

OH, HERE THEY COME

Those Men of Old Nassau. Five years ago, heavy thunderstorms forced cancellation of Princeton University's colorful Alumni P-Rade—the only time since the wonderful event was concocted in 1906 (to eliminate straggling to the Princeton-Yale baseball game) that it has been called off. The Class of 1938, celebrating its 15th Reunion in 1953, had big plans for the P-Rade that year, but the plans were washed away with the tears of '38 children (as well as adults).

There will be no tears for the Class of '38 this Saturday, rain or shine. For, if the traditional highlight of Reunion week end is cancelled for any reason, barring international catastrophe, some 225 members of the 20th Reunion Class will enjoy the entire week end festivities on Lloyd's of London. That's the promise of John H. Platten Jr., 157 Westcott Road, chairman of '38's celebration and insurance arranger extraordinaire.

Lloyd's coverage notwithstanding, some 5,000 University alumni, drawn from all sections of the United States and a dozen foreign countries, will be looking for bright, clear skies at 1:30 p.m. Saturday, when the P-Rade to the 229th Princeton-Yale baseball clash gets underway. So will an estimated 15,000-plus spectators, many of whom have come to realize—after Junes of watching—that the Old Nassau P-Rade is always a zany, heartening and memorable procession.

The Class of 1933, as the "honor quarter-century class," will lead the mile-long line of march, composed largely of members of the "five-year" or "Major Reunion" Classes. The Class of 1908,

Fearless Forecast

Rain: Many fear it.
Mist: Maybe sooner.
Undampened spirit
In each reuner!

—PRINCETON TIGER

Assuming the role of the Weather Man for his big week-end, the Tiger admitted that it took little courage to combine thoughts of spirits and those celebrating their return to Nassau Hall. He had to recall hastily, however, his own role of fearless jungle lord when requested to forecast the weather for the next four days important to so many thousands of Princetonians.

"Thursday," he reports: "partly cloudy, somewhat humid. Friday, fair and cooler. Saturday, fair, rising temperatures but pleasant. Sunday, partly cloudy but no rain."

What else would a Tiger predict for a big Princeton week-end? He also forecasts victory over Yale, 8 to 3.

celebrating its 50th year out of college, will expose a near-record turnout of two-thirds of its living membership of 158 men (including Secretary of State John Foster Dulles), while the Class of 1893, observing its 65th, will hold one of the oldest organized Reunions in Princeton history with six of its 15 living "Old Guard" members on hand.

A Jam-Packed Program. Climaxing three days of Reunion revelry and heralding three days of Commencement activity, the Alumni P-Rade will wind from Nassau Hall to University Field. The costumed classes, accompanied by floats and a wide variety of musical combinations, will march leisurely down Prospect Avenue and pass in review before some 250 members of the "Old Guard," members of the Board of Trustees and President and Mrs. Robert F. Goheen.

Other events on a jam-packed Reunion calendar are the annual meeting of the Princeton National Alumni Association Sunday noon, the Service of Remembrance for deceased alumni in the University Chapel at 3 p.m. Sunday, singing by alumni classes on the steps of Nassau Hall Friday and Saturday evenings and a series of special exhibitions and guided tours of the James Forrestal Research Center.

Of particular interest to non-alumni as well as the Old Nassau returnees is the public display of "Princeton authors" which has been prepared in Firestone Library. Some 50 writers, ranging from the Class of 1887 through the Class of 1918, are represented in the distinguished collection.

Among those included in this special exhibit are the late Booth Tarkington '93, twice winner of the Pulitzer Prize; F. Scott Fitzgerald '17, whose novel, "The Great Gatsby," will be dramatized for a nationwide TV audience over the week end; Struthers Burt '01 and Nathaniel Burt '36, a literary father-and-son combination; Samuel Shellabarger '09, Philip Wylie '21 and Edmund Keeley '48, author of the newly published "The Libation."

Past and Present Linked. On Sunday, the spotlight will shift from alumni activities to the 675 members of Princeton's graduating Class of 1958 who at 11 a.m. will march in academic robes to the University Chapel, where President Goheen will deliver his first Princeton Baccalaureate Address. Sunday afternoon at 1. President and Mrs. Goheen will honor the Class of 1958 at the traditional Garden Party at "Prospect," their campus home.

Monday will be given over to the morning prize-presentation ceremonies in Alexander Hall and the afternoon Cannon Exercises on Cannon Green. The 211th annual Commencement program is scheduled for 11 a.m. Tuesday in the "Commencement Amphitheater" on the front campus, or, in the eventuality of rain, in the Dillon Gymnasium.

Lloyd's of London has not been engaged for rain coverage on Commencement Day, so no four-year courses will be awarded free of charge if diplomas must be delivered indoors.

PERSONALITIES

John F. Becker, State Road 206, who surmounted unanticipated drama in successfully staging the latest in a series of grand-scale religious pageants. In Pittsburgh to direct "Visited Planet," a colorful, musical production symbolizing the merger of the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., Mr. Becker first supervised nearly-complete restoration of the huge set following its levelling by a severe wind and rainstorm in Pitt Stadium, hours later watched the big cast, chorus and orchestra he had assembled play to thousands in a manner that drew unanimous critical acclaim.

Ralph S. Mason, 82 Overbrook Drive, civic-minded Princeton attorney and former (1957) Township mayor who got back into his municipality's expansion act in a hurry this week as the Township Committee chose him to fill Professor Jean Lahatut's unexpired term (to January, 1960) on the all-important Township Planning Board. Announcing the appointment, Mayor Charles A. Hurford praised the outgoing professor, noting that it is hoped "he will be available for other Township service when he returns from a well-deserved leave of absence," and indicated his delight in lining up Mr. Mason, one of the foster parents of the Township's "master plan."

Mrs. Darrell F. Johnson, Montgomery Road, Rocky Hill, appreciative housewife and longtime chairman of the welfare committee of the Princeton Council of Community Services who this past week was named the winner of the Princeton Kiwanis Club's "pick-a-project" essay contest. Realizing the great need for a Homemaker Service in the Princeton area from past experience—as well as from congratulatory messages received from mothers since her plan became known—Mrs. Johnson convinced the Kiwanians they should donate at least $1000 annually to such a service, commencing with its immediate creation. Her personal award: $100.

ROUND-UP

TOP OF THE NEWS: Friday the 13th (which happens only once this year) is expected to be a banner day for the Stony Brook-Millstone Watersheds Association, a not-so-banner day for diehard advocates of a Stony Brook reservoir, last summer's hottest point . . . according to hush-hush information from a hush-hush meeting, the State Assembly will scrap the Stony Brook reservoir proposal once and for all this Friday because somebody goofed . . . rumor has it that the Federal Government checked New Jersey maps, the result of lots of State work on the reservoir, and found them only "half safe" . . . apparently, the State figured the Stony Brook reservoir would hold 10 billion gallons of water, good for 10 million gallons for use per day, but the D.C. experts discovered a capacity of only five billion gallons, good for only five million per day.

Following a host of charges and counter-charges, a total of 1070 voters went to the polls in South Brunswick Township on Tuesday evening and indicated emphatically that they want a high school for the municipality at Kingston Lane and Major Road, the location proposed by the South Brunswick Board of Education . . . the actual count was 815 "yes" to 255 "no," with the following breakdown by Township communities: Kendall Park, 332-98; Kingston, 31-19; Dayton, 154-53; Deans, 145-52, and Monmouth Junction, 153-33 . . . Mrs. Dorothy Mayer, 39-year old wife of the late Jacob J. Mayer, Trenton A&P store manager whose murdered body was removed from the Delaware & Raritan Canal here two months ago, reportedly attempted suicide Monday afternoon and is being held for medical and police observation . . . it was the second such attempt since the brutal killing of Mr. Mayer, according to investigators, who said she tried sleeping tablets last month and a kitchen knife this week.

ALSO OF NOTE: Talk of a "million dollar shopping center" along Brunswick Pike in Lawrence Township, a major subject of conversation five years ago, was revived this week by owners of the Trenton property and Newark developers who would like to do the job . . . the vacant 25-acre site is situated between the building housing radio station WTTM and Texas Avenue, and extends back towards Princeton Pike . . . fire of unknown origin broke out in a room in the arch of Princeton University's Holder Hall last Saturday, but, thanks to the quick action of Officer Arthur Anderson of the University Police, Capt. ### URBAN RENEWAL NEARER Approval Will Be Sought. The eight-point "Workable Program," which will apparently be forwarded to Federal authorities with the approval of Mayor and Council in the hope of obtaining Federal funds in constructing the long-awaited "parallel route" to Nassau Street, was aired and discussed at length at Tuesday's marathon session of Mayor and Council.

While the presentation of the possible five-acre project (bounded by Hullah, John, Green and Witherspoon Streets) generated more smoke and heated discussion than it did wholehearted approval of the plan evolved on a "crash basis" by the planners employed by the Housing Authority, the proposed alignment of the link between Avalon Place and Wiggins Street was made clear.

Driving from west to east, the contemplated thoroughway would angle through one corner of the property of Mrs. Arthur H. Mitchell (corner of Avalon Place and John Street, across Avalon from Dorthea's House), would skirt the First Baptist Church to the south and would level all existing Jackson Street structures (including several business properties facing on Witherspoon) before connecting with Wiggins Street.

The essentials of the plan, that brings the Borough face-to-face with the questions of "What goes on in the heart of Princeton" and "What is the future of so-called Commercial Core?", are the preservation of Green Street as a residential artery and the perpetuation of the First Baptist Church in its present location.

Objections. The to-be-anticipated objections, stemming in large measure from the grave problem of finding suitable housing sites for minority groups within the geographic limits of the Borough, were strengthened by the thoughts of Kenneth Kassler, chairman of the Borough's Zoning Board.

Architect Kassler, advocate of a plan that would place the "through street" north of the First Baptist Church and would leave the church where it is with architectural adjustments, questioned "taking one-third of Mrs. Mitchell's property" and went as far as to state that the proposed angled route would be to "the detriment of Princeton forever."

Summing Up. Mayor Male, emphasizing that Urban Renewal is a matter of thoughtful long-range planning rather than the immediate approval of any site-plan proposed by planners, emphasized that the project involves these points: Codes and Ordinances, Master Plan, Neighborhood Study, Administration, Financing, Rehousing, Citizen Participation and Good Faith.

Confronted with the probability that 20-30 families will be displaced, and that 15 of these families will be eligible for low-rental public housing, the Mayor stressed the Borough's obligations to the families living on Jackson Street. "This is a challenge to all of Princeton," he said. "If we find the right kind of housing, Princeton may not have as much to offer as I believe it does."

In this connection, Council President Coyle stated that Mayor and Council are asking the Borough Planning Board to undertake "the exploration jointly with the Township of the advantages and possibilities, of creating public housing developments which would strengthen both municipalities."

Matters of Moment. Other developments in an evening that opened at 3 and concluded at approximately 11:40.

● Passage of an ordinance that will make it mandatory for property-owners to fence swimming pools.

● Tabling of a measure under which the Borough would waive existing rights enabling it to extend Lafayette Road as a through street." It was Councilman Fares thought that a proposal substituting a "back-around" for dedicated public rights was "ill-timed."

● Confirmation from Borough Engineer Riker that the Official Map, and supporting researches, THERE'VE BEEN SOME CHANGES MADE. Princeton University's Class of 1937 made wonderful impression as its colorful members marched counter-clockwise around University Field during the Alumni P-Rade of 1919. This Saturday, as '97s "Old Guard" participants make their P-Rade rounds, a number of changes will be evident. Among them: the present-day clockwise march around University Field and the absence of covered grandstands, which burned to the ground in 1920, a year after the above picture was taken. Unchanged: '97s tremendous spirit.

show that Morven Place and Olden Lane should be known as "Streets."

LUCKY 13

Messages Tell Big Story. Starting on page 21 of this issue, TOWN TOPICS is instituting a 13-week advertising campaign to promote the important theme, "It Pays to Buy Where You Live." Some 20 different Princeton business firms have added their signatures to the full-page ad devoted to the first installment of this sales message, and they will also be sponsoring the dozen subsequent installments.

Purpose of the 13-week campaign, which has the vitally-interested Princeton Business Association as one of its endorers, is twofold: (1) to convince residents that it is logical to purchase goods in Princeton, because every purchase helps Princeton's prosperity and (2) to stimulate the idea of continuing the power of buying during the summer months, which tend to show an unnecessary slump in trade.

As readers will note, the initial ad underscores the point that "a BIG slice of your dollar goes to make some community more prosperous . . . yours . . . or the other fellows." The opening message has as its kicker, "Make your dollars build your community . . . not somebody else's." Similar thoughts will be illustrated and conveyed in the next 12 full-pages, though each one will approach the significant subject from a different angle.

WORDS AND DEEDS

Township Committee. Active. Only a handful of Princeton Township residents—perhaps 15 at most—wandered into the Township Committee's regular June meeting Monday evening, but these few discovered that their municipal governing body is an active one. For three and a half hours, the Committee weighed a great variety of problems, generating no headline news yet covering much noteworthy ground.

Apparently stemming from a request by Snowden Lane citizenry that a Princeton Shopping Center directional sign be removed from the corner of Snowden and Nassau, the Committee heard a Board of Adjustment recommendation that clauses in the Zoning Ordinance pertaining to such signs be changed. The change would enable the municipality's zoning officer to order all similar directional signs eliminated. The Committee forwarded the recommendation to the Planning Board for further study and its recommendation.

Snowden came into focus again when the Common Council agreed to meet within 48 hours to endorse the first reading of an ordinance calling for construction of a sanitary sewer line between Athernath and Overbrook Drives on Snowden. According to an

Ten Years Out: Age 31, Bigger Waistline, Father of Two

According to a poll of Princeton University's Class of 1948, its "median man" is 31 years old, putting on weight, a husband of six years standing with a wife a year younger; father of two and earning $8000 to $10,000 a year. With 57% of the class' 820 members answering the questionnaire, the poll revealed that 82% are married and 15% divorced. Half of the married men took the step within three years after graduation and have 120 sons for every 100 daughters. The salaries reported ranged from less than $6000, with 15% falling in this category, to the 2% earning between $30,000 and $49,999. A quarter of those answering the questions said their salaries ran between $6000 and $7999, with 21% reporting $8000 to $9999. The medical men, educators and clergy fell in the lower brackets and business executives were at the top of the scale with a median salary of $12,000 to $14,000.

More than half of those polled have confided with graduate work, with 15% holding a master's degree and another 10% a doctoral degree. The average member of the class has worked for two firms since graduation, receives 10 to fourteen paid vacation days annually; favors golf as a hobby, has a work week of 40 to 40 hours; spends five to nine hours reading for pleasure and the same number reading for business reasons. The median commuting time is 30 to 44 minutes, although 5% spend two to two-and-a-half hours travelling daily between home and job.

One-third of the class never watches television and nearly 47% no longer attend the movies. Five to nine hours a week is the average for those who do scan the TV screen. One-fourth of the 1948'ers no longer take regular exercise, although a few "teager bachelors" get 15 or more hours a week.

Some 82% of the class own regular life insurance and 65% have term life insurance. Investment securities are held by about 65% and -52% have bought homes with a median value of $20,000 in $25,000 and with mortgages held by 86%. No other debts were reported by 71%, although 11% stated they owed $10,000 or more. The class will hold its tenth reunion this weekend. The poll results are published in the Class of 1948 tenth reunion book edited by Donald J. Sterling Jr. of Portland, Ore. The poll was taken by Robert D. Lilien of New York and Walter Roberts Jr. of Darien, Conn.

estimate by Township Engineer Calvin O. Schofield, installation of the vital system will cost approximately $16,750, or an average of $882 for each of the 19 added properties on the north as well as south side of Snowden.

Since the Board of Health has proclaimed the area "a health hazard" as a result of septic tank difficulties and ordered the sanitation sewer, the Committeemen were faced with a ticklish question, "Must property owners without septic problems tie in to the line?" The city fathers put the query in their "unfished business" folder after agreeing that residents must pay their share for the line installation, whether they be inclined to tie in or not.

Sidenwaks for Valley Road. Thinking primarily of the safety of youngsters attending Valley Road School, the Committee passed on first reading an ordinance prescribing sidewalks on both sides of Valley between Harrison Street and Jefferson Road and on the south side only between Jefferson and Harris Road. A public hearing on the $12,500 matter (it is financed by Valley property owners) was set for 8:30 p.m. June 24.

Removal of all but one Township liquor license was handled as a routine subject Monday evening. The lone exception—the White Horse Tavern, 9 Birch Avenue—was called to task by Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Vaughn, 11 Birch, who filed a written complaint stating that the license should not be re-issued. The Committee scheduled a hearing on the complaint for 8 p.m. next Tuesday, noting that any other requests who file written complaints or sign petitions against the bar will be permitted to speak at the open session.

After a "performance" bond in connection with the completion of three arteries in the Columbus Boulevard area was released, Committeeman R. Kenneth Fairman explained that so much has been learned about the development of subdivision in the past two years that erection of street signs and "maintenance" provisions are now required—in addition to "performance." Mr. Fairman, by way of explaining his observation, said: "People might be wondering if the Township Committee knows what it's doing; I think it does."

On the recommendation of Committee member Stanley C. Smoyer, the group agreed to table Trenton Transit's request for aid in repaying New Jersey's 5 percent gross receipts tax. "We're just a very small part of the tail of a very large dog," Mr. Smoyer commented. He said it might be inappropriate for the Township to speak first, adding that it would be far better for the municipality to watch until it gets a full picture of the statewide situation.

CREDIT—AND TRIBUTE—WHERE THEY'RE DUE: The Princeton Community Players' recently-concluded 25th anniversary year was one of the theatrical group's "most successful," thanks in large measure to the tireless efforts of Col. and Mrs. Lamont Saxton (left), who served as production manager and publicity chairman, respectively. With the Air Force officer slated to transfer soon to Vancouver, Wash., to take command of a reserve wing, the Players this past week gave a "backstage" farewell party for "Monty and Patty" to show their appreciation. Mrs. Margaretta Childs, chief custodian of costumes, and Nicholas Muller, Players' president, arranged the event and presented an engraved silver tray, plus a special poster (background) and other appropriate gifts. (Photo by Alan Richards)

News Of The THEATRES

UNIVERSITY PLAYERS

Opener Two Weeks Away. Signs that the kickoff production of the University Players' 30th anniversary season is just two weeks off were evident in Princeton this week. The summer group's producer was busy seeking additional backers, one of two professional directors was house-hunting and rehearsal No. 1 was called for next Thursday.

Princeton University junior David Sawyer, the Players' new, enthusiastic producer, stressed that his non-profit organization is still in dire need of patrons' fund so that a successful season can be assured. He asked again that residents of the committee support the group, the only serious summer theatre in the community.

As their first of nine planned productions, the Players will stage the new London version of Arthur Miller's "A View From The Bridge." It is scheduled to begin a one-week run the night of June 28.

THE PLAYHOUSE

Ten North Frederick (June 12-14) offers Princetonians a chance to see Gary Cooper propose marriage to Suzy Parker in the CinemaScope screen version of a bestselling novel by fellow townsman John O'Hara, a pretty preposterous romantic combination that doesn't help—but still doesn't ruin—the movie. O'Hara's intimate story of a man of wealth and family, who sets out on a wife-inspired political career only to find the going too rough-and-tumble and alcohol too much more appealing, is a film natural that enjoys competent treatment. Except for the love-making chores Cooper experiences no trouble mustering a typical, effective performance. Miss Parker and another luscious newcomer, Diane Varsi, display acting ability in addition to physical attributes, and, of course, Geraldine Fitzgerald is appropriately impossible as the power-hungry wife. It's potent, earthy, interesting stuff.

Vertigo (June 15-21) is described in Webster's dictionary as "a dizzy, confused condition of mind, a state in which all things seem to be whirling around mental bewilderment and confusion." In excellent Vista-Vision and Technicolor (San Francisco is the site), "Vertigo," a Hitchcock-a-doodle-do of a film, has all of these elements—plus. James Stewart is cast as a comfortably fixed detective who suffers from acrophobia (fear of heights) because of an accident which took the life of the policeman responsible for saving Stewart at the edge of a roof. Meanwhile, comely Kim Novak is being driven to suicide and reliable Barbara Bel Geddes is busy bearing the burden of the only sensible, sympathetic character in the picture. Needless to note, Stewart falls in love with Miss Novak, who already has a husband, while Miss Bel Geddes falls in love with Stewart—in other words, a romantic triangle with some pretty keen edges. Along with all the vertiginous amour, there is a wealth of shock, suspense and surprise in the best Alfred Hitchcock tradition.

THE GARDEN

Mam'zelle Pigalle and The Red Balloon (June 12-14) comprise a curious made-in-France twin bill: the former a Brigitte Bardot vehicle that has dialogue but certainly doesn't need it, thanks to beautiful Brigitte, and the latter a non-dialogue, 34-minute short subject that has no dialogue and

THEY'VE GOT PROBLEMS: James Stewart plays a detective suffering from acrophobia as well as a guilt complex and Kim Novak long-dead beauty, in "Vertigo." The Alfred Hitchcock thriller opens a week's run at the Playhouse this Sunday.

brought back by a true-blue popular demand, is the Academy Award-winning piece about a charming little boy in Paris and the wonderful balloon which trails him around all day like a pet.
Brilliant photography assures the success of this small but significant film.

The Witch and The Last Paradise (June 16-21) bring to the Garden its second straight double-feature, a combination of films which sounds like "something for the boys" during graduation week but which actually is a lot less than the titles imply. The first-named import, in Finnish with English sub-titles, is the initial made-in-Finland movie to reach America, a 70-minute dramatization of Freudian theories of sex frustration and repressed love.
Though star Mirja Maen is billed as "a second Hedy LaMarr" and there are signs of nudistic cavorting, it's a case of more tease than striptease and the story of superstition is more superficial than supernatural. Still, an "adults only" policy ought to be followed by Princeton parents.
"The Last Paradise" is an undistinguished Italian-made travelogue, with English narration, that documents the activities of a native tribe in the South Seas.
Photographed in CinemaScope and Color, the 64-minute picture is sometimes spectacular and sometimes gruesome, but mostly uneven.

LAWRENCE DRIVE-IN

Parwell to Arms (June 12).
Hemingway's gigantic novel of love and war, fills the wide screen impressively with superb color scenes shot in the Italian Alps and some of the most shattering battle sequences ever filmed. Less effective are the drawn-out romantic portions of the picture, with Rock Hudson and Jennifer Jones responsible for quite a bit of unappealing emoting in the clinches.

Loaded Pistols, Riders of the Badlands, Match-Making Marshal and Nevada Man (June 13-14) constitute an unprecedented quadruple bill, serving Western-lovers all they might possibly crave at one sitting—and then some. Indefatigable Gene Autry stars in the first film on a shoot 'em up menu to end all crash-bangers, with Guy Madison using both fists in No. 2, Whip Wilson whipping his evil foes in No. 3 and the featured performer in No. 4 recognizable only by diehards with 20-20 vision. There's something here for everyone. If you've got the staying power.

The Young Lions (June 15-18)
are Marlon Brando, Montgomery Clift and Dean Martin, and they do an effective job of deriving cohesion and dramatic impact out of Irwin Shaw's long and involved post-World War II bestseller. The movie succeeds largely due to these three male performers, supported well by a number of attractive females and war-troubled males, and the occasional rambling certainly is for-givable because the unfolding of three different stories about three different protagonists necessitates a lot of jumping around. At least, there is always a feeling of muted suspense, and never is there any flagging of pace.

MUSIC CIRCUS

Last Week for Opener. Frank Loesser's musical hit, "The Most Happy Fella," enters its third and final week at the Music Circus in Lambertville next Tuesday. It is to be followed June 24
by "Song of Norway."

Starred in the Music Mountain opener for 1958 are Richard Wentworth, Ginny Perlowin, Indian Adams, Jack Irwin, Bob Dixon and Joyce Harrod. George Lipton is responsible for staging the show, which ran two years on Broadway.

WASH AROUND THE CLOCK

Come Clean with a Quarter. It may have been some time since you did a load of washing at 2 A.M., but you never know, you never know. And it is certainly possible that you might have clothes to wash. Let's say, 3 P.M. some Saturday—just home from a family picnic with chocolate ice-cream, grass stains and mud all over everything.

To accommodate you in this situation and, indeed, in any situation which involves doing the laundry, the University Cleaners has set up a 24-hour self-service laundry in the Princeton Shopping Center between the Acme and the A. & P. It's called "U-Wash-Around the Clock."

Into this clean and cheerful laundry with its light blue and white fixtures, you take your dirty clothes. Use one washing machine or all 20, if they're available and you need them many.

Each one costs 25 cents a load. All you do is to put clothes in the washer and a coin in the slot (there's a coin-changing machine right there). A vending machine with soap, bleach, detergent and ammonia provides the proper agents to do your work.

You can stay while your washing is washed, or come back when the cycle is over. Then you transfer your clean clothes to any of the six big dryers.

You pay a dime for each ten minutes of drying time, which means that you can dry clothes just enough for ironing, or leave them until they're like a bone. If you want to, you can wash at home and bring clothes in for drying.

University Cleaners thinks their new U-Wash will be particularly convenient on weekends and evenings during the week. The machines are sturdy commercial ones, built to stand all the wear they will get, but if they do collapse, the customer fills out a card with her name and address, and on the exhausted machine and thereby gets a refund.

As we see it, the great advantage of U-Wash is that it provides a place where Princeton women can gossip, just the way women used to do when they gathered at the river bank to beat clothes on wet stones. After all, those washing cycles are about 30 minutes long and a lot of dirt can come out in half an hour.

Passport To Good Eating

For the traveler to Europe, Princeton Gourmet has the perfect bon voyage gift. It's a Menu Passport which consists of several four-by-six inch cards that list for you the national dishes of 16 European countries.

The cards are slick and easy to wipe clean and they come in a red leather folder that's flat as a tortilla. Each card is divided into two columns with the English names on one side and the national names on the other. (You'll like the card, for England: it has "English" on the left and "American" on the right.)

With this passport in your purse, you can enter any foreign restaurant and ask for national foods without getting embarrassed or showing up with egg on your face, or "oeufs a la visage," as they say.

The cards have regional specialties, too, like certain cheeses in England and, of course, regional wines in France. Those 16 countries cover a goodly amount of ground, even Russia and Turkey. If you stay in New Jersey, you're on your own.

Countersunk. You may do the laundry somewhere else, but you probably cook at home. Nassau Service, the appliance center on route 208, offers a tempting new menu of delicacies for the kitchen: a new stove, its burners and its griddle set into your counter, a sleek oven with a rotisserie inside and a freezer that will go, quite snugly, under your counter.

If you're building a house, or remodeling a kitchen from crumb to whole loaf, Nassau Service will enlist for you the services of Delaney Kitchens in Trenton, kitchen planners and vendors of steel kitchens by St. Charles and wood-ones by Birchcraft.

Besides kitchen appliances, Nassau Service has Philco air-conditioners, central air-conditioning systems for your entire house, simple appliances for one room, or air-conditioning for commercial use, and of course, Philco TV. Robert Drummond and Ralph Kleiber, owners of the shop, are particularly proud of the service department they have on their premises. Five factory-trained men are available to repair any major appliance you have and these trained men keep further training by attending, each month, the service school of some appliance manufacturer. The men at Nassau Service believe their prices are surprisingly competitive with big discount houses and they point out that it makes sense to buy locally where you can get instant servicing when you need it.

Incidentally, don't be misled by the Route 208 address. The shop is only about a quarter of a mile up 206 from Township Hall.

Frills. If you're going to have that new kitchen, you might as well go the whole way and have everything new. It's a lot easier to buy a new saucepan than scrub the burned potatoes out of the old one.

Princeton Gourmet, Nassau and Harrison, has some bold and cheerful new kitchen pieces from England made of Cornish ware. This is high-fired oven-proof stuff in half-inch stripes of chalk white and royal blue. You can buy a canister set, graduated jugs from half pint to quart, mixing bowls, a salt box with wooden ton, oil and vinegar cruet and a small breakfast set with plate, bowl, egg cup and cup and saucer.

Other ceramic canisters come in stripes of gray and mustard or green and blue. These are tall cylinders that look rather like knitting bags. Splendid for a very modern kitchen, if you can figure out how to get a flour scoop inside.

Lots of brides register their preferences with the Gourmet. Probably a bride you know would like the Swedish stoneware in dark mustard with a pale gold band. The tureen ($9.95) looks

BUCKS PLAYHOUSE

"Compulsion" Next Play, Meyer Levin's best-selling novel and hit play, "Compulsion," will open at the Bucks County Playhouse at 8:30 next Monday evening and remain for two weeks, ending June 28. There will be one extra matinee, June 19, in addition to the regular Wednesday and Saturday matinees.

The first summer theatre to present the exciting drama, based on the famous Leopold-Loebe murder trial, Bucks will offer a first-rate cast, headed by Raymond and D. J. Sullivan of the original New York production. Also included will be Edward Cullen as the defense attorney, Henry Nurell, John Albo, Clarence Hoffman, Alex Chowley, Martin Green, Jill Kraft and Beatrice Ruth.

Final performances of the current Playhouse endeavor, T. C. Jones' "Mask and Gown" will be held this Thursday and Saturday afternoons and Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings.

IN 80 MINUTES

Dance Recital "Around the World." Ninety pupils of the Betty Kehoe Dance Studios will go "Around the World in 80 Minutes" at their forthcoming dance recital to be held this Friday at 8:15 p.m. in the Princeton High School auditorium.

The annual revue will combine tap and ballet dances representing many different countries, and exhibiting the advancement and accomplishment of each student. All the dances will be performed in costume. The performance is open to the public.

like a giant jam pot with its slot for a Swedish wooden spoon.

There's a casserole and a place setting, luncheon size, in true Swedish fashion, the set includes a giant coffee cup. Designers always say these cups are for fathers, but what man has time in the morning for anything but a gulped demitasse? It's the women who drink all the coffee, in those ten o'clock coffee klatches.

Chilet Suzanne Foods has a new Remoine soup that you can use equally well in winter, served hot, or in summer served cold. It's a soup that's served hot. It's a soup that contains chicken, mushrooms, spinach, onions, carrots, tomatoes, artichokes, clams, celery tops and the usual binding ingredients and seasonings. It tastes rather like poultry dressing and would be an excellent soup for a cold day in winter.

If you have too much cholesterol or think you might have some day, you'll be glad to know about Lecithin, a soy spread for low fat diets. It is said to taste better like butter, but it keeps better and is not so insidious. Comes salted or unsalted.

Lecithin, as you know if you're addicted to reading the ingredients printed on candy boxes, is a kind of fat found in certain animal and vegetable cells. In this spread, it's blended with soy, olive and sesame oils and enriched even more by the addition of carotene, the vitamin A that gives carrots such a bounce.

Lecithin is said to be so aggressive that it not only prevents the formation of cholesterol but actually gets in there and fights the cholesterol you've already got. What can you lose?

Summer in Your View-Finder. Acting on the theory that people stop listening and begin looking when summer comes, the Listening Post at 108 1/2 Nassau, soft-pedals its records and turns up the volume on cameras when June comes. Buy a Yashica twin lens reflex, $29.95 and up, suggests the Post. Or the 35mm Olympus or the Konica for the same price. All are Japanese.

Movie fans can pick up the Eumig all-electric camera that grinds out ten rolls on four pen size batteries without any manual winding. Make sure of all your shots with a Kalimar light meter.

If you'd rather keep cool at home than go outside to shoot the sun, the Post has McGraw Edison's Coolerator, a carryable (as opposed to portable) air-conditioner of 1/2 h.p., enough to let you sleep in a cool bedroom or work in a cool kitchen.

It weighs 65 pounds, is low and thin and has been tested, they say, under grueling tropical conditions which probably means central Jersey in July. Cost: $149.95.

the course of business, the Township Committee also:

● Heard a "progress report" on the proposed traffic light system for the Washington-College intersection from Committee member James G. Campbell Jr., who emphasized that the plan is "in the communication stage between the State and County, waiting for final authorization." Mr. Campbell promised he would watch developments closely, adding that the system is to be installed at no expense, to the Township.

● Opened bids, approving the $3,978 total of Lawrence Kircher of Princeton for construction of the Mt. Lucas-Laurel Road and accepting "undue advisement" two varying amounts for the widening of Snowden.

● Informed spectators that the Township's half of the Joint Recreation Committee will be completed within a week, that a public hearing on opposition to hunting in the municipality will be conducted before the next hunting season and that the Township once again will consider hardships involved in assessment of properties based on amounts land speculators would pay for them.

● Listened to architect Kenneth Kessler's "informal presentation" of a request for 1100 feet of public sewer on Lafayette Road West, to be requested formally at a later date.

● Approved a request of American Legion Post 76 for the annual fireworks display in Palmer Stadium from 9 to 10 p.m. July 4. (Rain date: July 5).

● Confirmed Anthony Diafoli as a regular Township patrolman, following one year's service, and Miss Amelia M. Trani as assistant treasurer, to "pitch-in" whenever Joseph R. Nini, treasurer, is out of town.

SEMINARY GRADUATION

Area Residents Win Degrees. At the 146th commencement exercises of Princeton Theological Seminary, Richard S. Armstrong and Alan J. Hagenbuch of Princeton received their bachelor of divinity degrees and Dr. James H. Smylie of Princeton was awarded the degree of doctor of theology. The exercises took

Flying Mayor

A last-minute invitation will enable Borough Mayor Male to pay a flying visit to the Brussels (Belgium) International Exposition. The four-day excursion, involving departure Wednesday and return to Princeton Sunday, June 22, will mean that next week's "Open House" in Borough Hall will be held Monday evening, June 16, from 7 until 10.

The Mayor will accompany a group of industrial executives on the inaugural transatlantic flight of National Overseas Airlines. During his absence Council President Coyle will serve as Acting Mayor.

place in the Princeton University Chapel.

Mr. Armstrong won a Samuel Robinson foundation prize. Dr. Smylie, who received his B.D. and master of theology degrees from the Seminary in 1949 and 1950 respectively, wrote his dissertation on "American Clergymen and the Constitution of the United States of America 1781-1796."

The Rev. Dr. Peter K. Emmons, president of the board of trustees, gave the invocation and the Rev. Dr. Clifford G. Pollock read a passage from "Isaiah." The prayer was said by the Rev. Dr. Frederick E. Christian and the benediction by the Rev. Dr. Ralph C. Hutchinson.

The Rev. Dr. Vister 't Hooft, general secretary of the World Council of Churches, gave the address on the ecumenical movement. He defined his subject as "a movement to recapture the integrity of the church, its specific nature as the people who belong to God alone, its specific mission as the militia of the Lord Jesus Christ and consequently its independence from all worldly powers."

In outlining "this struggle for the integrity of the church," he stated: "In western Europe, it is a struggle against the secular hopelessness which leads to reactionary social and political movements. In eastern Europe, it is a struggle against the attempt to silence any critical or prophetic witness of the church. In Asia, it is the struggle against a nationalism which leads to syncretism that is the facile acceptance of all religions as equally valid and equally true. In Africa, it is the struggle against the disintegrating effect of western civilization upon primitive cultures. In America, it is the struggle against the superstition that the church is an insurance company set up to offer 'security.'"

PCD HEARS DR. GOHEEN

Stevens Is Top Prize-Winner. Seventeen members of the Class of 1958 received diplomas at Princeton Country Day School Monday at exercises marked by an address given by the school's best-known alumnus. The principal speaker on the occasion was Dr. Robert F. Goheen, President of Princeton University and a member of the PCD Class of 1931.

The end of the school year, which drew a capacity crowd to the commencement program, brought to a close the association with Country Day of Headmaster Henry B. Ross. He had announced his resignation last fall, ending 12 years as its head and nearly three decades as a faculty member.

Two of the school's top prizes were awarded during the ceremonies to Joseph B. Stevens, who will enter Andover in September. He received the Headmaster's Cup, a recognition of "the highest service that can be rendered the school by leadership based on character," and the Athletics Cup for all-around proficiency in that respect.

The Faculty Cup—for "Manhood, Learning, Goodness"—went to Robert T. Bales, while John M. Tassie, Jr. won the Sixth Form Award for endeavor and improvement. Bales is entering Taft and Tassie will go to Lawrenceville.

Anthony H. Lauck won both the Alumni Cup and the Upper School Scholarship Cup for academic excellence, while the Fifth Form award for endeavor and improvement went to John E. Goble. The Lower School Scholarship Cup was won by Warren P. Elmer, 3d, and the should given in memory of Lance Raymond went to William Edwards, Jr.

Awards for outstanding service to the school through participation in various school activities were made to Robert T. Bales and George A. Peterson of the graduating class. Peterson will enter Andover in September.

Other members of the Class of 1958 and the schools they will enter in the fall are: Raymond S. Agar, Pomfret; Philip L. Bonnel, Teacher; Francis M. Bushnell, Jr., Choate; David M. Kelley, Choate; Alexander L. Kirkpatrick, Hotchkiss; Gordon Kins, Jr., Wooster; Christopher R. P. Holden, Jr., South Kent; Richard M. Rosenblad, Lawrenceville; George C. Stines, Gunnery; F. P. Yanderturken, 3d, Lawrenceville; E. John Zulte, 3d, Woodbury Forest; Vincent B. Wicker, Pomfret; and Christopher B. Wright, St. George's.

MISS FINE'S AWARDS

Honors Announced. Special awards were presented by Miss Shirley Davis, headmistress of Miss Fine's School, at the 56th commencement exercises Tuesday. The first of the Katherine Metcalfe Gullick Memorial Scholarships, given on a basis of character, scholarship and need, was awarded to Miss Valerie Wicks who will enter the eighth grade next September. The scholarship will be given annually to a new student entering the eighth through 11th grades.

The school's highest honor award, the Silver Cup presented by the class of 1957, was presented to Miss Ellen Freshman. The cup is given to the senior who has contributed most to the school through her loyalty, spirit, citizenship and leadership.

Miss Ann Lea and Miss Sally Tomlinson were presented with the gold "P," the school's highest athletic honor award for excellence in athletics, extensive participation on varsity teams combined with the highest qualities of sportsmanship, leadership and spirit. The silver "P" was presented to Miss Mary E. Keegan and Miss Linda Maxwell, members of the eighth grade, for excellence in athletics and good sportsmanship.

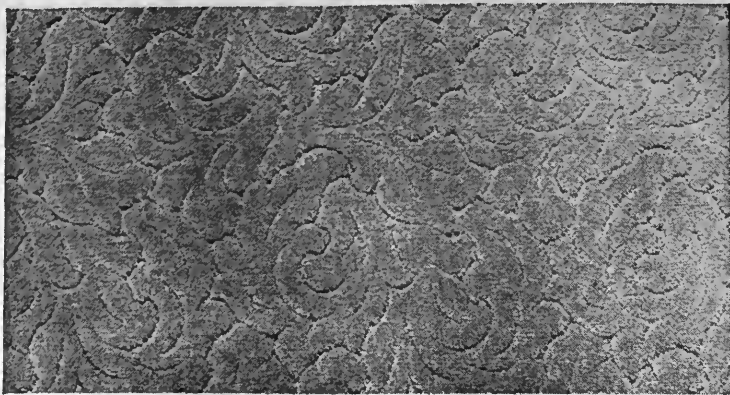

Miss Laurela Brown was awarded the Gold Key, the middle school's highest honor award, which is given to a member of the eighth grade who has shown outstanding qualities of leadership, citizenship and contributed most to the spirit of the school. Miss Elsie Fairman and Miss Elsie Scarff won the Crossley public speaking prizes and Miss Camilla Turnbull was given the Shear poetry prize.

Miss Freshman also earned the Book award for Le Cicle Français of Princeton and Miss Tomlinson was presented with the Women's College Club of Princeton's memorial award for outstanding work in creative writing. A book award and special commendation were given to Miss Evert Jamon. The Link literary awards were presented to Miss Fairman, upper school, prose; Miss Deborah Smith, upper school poetry; Miss Wendy Connelley, middle school, prose and Miss Annie C. diplomas presented to the graduating class by Edwin M. Lavin, president of the board of trustees. The class of 1958 equaled in size the class of 1959, the largest ever graduated.

HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATION

To be held at McCarter, Princeton High School's commencement exercises will take place Wednesday at 8 in McCarter Theatre with diplomas to be presented to approximately 260 members of the Class of 1958. The theme "Faith or Fear" will be presented by Miss Linda Brown, Alan Goodheart, Thomas Hollmann, Jonathan Jay, M. J. a Carol Jones, Miss Lela Page, Miss Margaret Shaw, Ralph Stroup and Miss Sandra Wayner. Graham Rohrer, president of the board of education, will give a short talk to the class with Irving Merzhan, secretary, to present the scholarships and awards. The Rev. Ernest Gordon, Dean of the Princeton University chapel, will deliver the address at convocation services in the chapel Monday at 8:20 a. m.

Thomas Hilbish will direct the senior members of the choir and chorus in singing "The Lord's Prayer," "The Lord Bless You and Keep You" and "The Pilgrim's Chorus" by Wagner. The group will sing at both the convocation and commencement.

ST. PAUL'S SCHOOL

Baccalaureate Mass given. Members of the graduating class of St. Paul's School attended a baccalaureate mass offered by the Rev. Edward C. Henry, pastor of St. Paul's Church. The choir paid tribute to the graduates by singing several selections.

The seventh grade gave a breakfast in honor of the graduates at which time awards were presented. Those receiving the honors included: Alan Tenyson and James Steiger, general excellence; Tenyson, excellence in religion; Kathleen Eurt and John Liwacz, excellence; Judith Canavan and Christopher Baker, scholarship and service; Catherine Doyle and Anthony Baldino, effort and achievement; Kathleen Eurt and Dorothy Avery, excellence in art; Robert Bancroft, patrol award; Marguerite Collins and Charles Salinger, school spirit; Carol Dormer and Joseph Cox, Critchlow award; and Rina Penaschia and John Macauley, American Legion award.

Y BUILDING CAMPAIGN

Two-Thirds Complete. Campaign chairman Leslie Laughlin has announced that a total of $257,531 has been raised to date for the "Let's Finish the Job" campaign of the Princeton YMCA-YWCA. The sum represents more than two-thirds of the $375,000 goal sought to complete the new Y building and all-season swimming pool now under construction on Avalon Place.

Keneth B. Hawthorne, YMCA president, is chairman of the team workers of the general campaign committee with Mrs. W. M. Donney, vice-president of the YWCA, serving as associate chairman. The team drive goal of $30,000 has been realized to the extent of $28,056. Crawford Madeira, chairman of the special gifts committee, has announced gifts totalling $189,475 to date.

The fund-raising section of the drive, led by Eric G. Enderby, has topped all other sections thus far with a total of $24,983. In second place is the section headed by Mrs. J. L. McLarty, YWCA president, with $21,420, and Peter Putnam's section is third, having raised a total of $20,056.

Donald Mathey's division, with $16,334, is tops, while second place goes to William Sward's division which has raised $6,101. Howard Wasserman's division is third with $5,508. Howard Stupp Jr.'s team ranks highest with $2463 raised, and second and third places go to the teams of Mrs. Francis G. Clark and Mrs. E. Harris Harbison with $2202 and $2140, respectively.

Labatut Questioned.
To the Editor of TOWN TOPICS:
Mr. Labatut may or may not be an expert planner, but he is far from qualified to even mention the word tradition within the boundaries of his adopted country.

The basic tradition of our country was freedom of the individual. No matter what freedom any of us holds as most sacred, all freedoms are based on two rights, the right of the citizen to hold his property as his own, sacred and inviolate, and the right of the individual citizen to the protection of our Constitution as written, or as opposed to the preference of a majority, or the assumption by individuals or states of powers not expressly granted.

The Institute for Advanced Study bought the property in question. They, not Mr. Labatut, are paying the taxes. It should be theirs to do as they see fit with their own.

If Mr. Labatut, or the community wanted the property, they should have bought it. They should not sit back until investment is made then try to dictate disposition at the cost of another.

Our tradition of freedom made no Constitutional provision for planners to decide whether or not a man may erect a home on land he owns, or where, or of what type, nor how many square feet of land he must buy and pay taxes on in order to satisfy the whims of either experts, egocentrics, eggheads or crackpots, be the expert but one man or backed by a majority of 99 percent.

Mr. Labatut should heed our Constitution. The silly innuendos about the tradition of "England and other places of the civilized world" is the very thing we sought to escape.

The Constitution on which our country was founded took great pains to spell out the protection of the common citizen against the arrogance of all planners, political and other, whether they planned for selfish gain or for the "good of the community." The founding fathers did not concern themselves with the protection of mere material things in order to gratify the esthetics, whether the ideas of one or the preference of millions.

BOROUGH COURT

Seva Are Fired, Magistrate Theodore T. Tams Jr. fined seven drivers for traffic violations in Monday evening's Borough Court session.

Mrs. Rose Coakley of Cherry Valley Road received the strictest penalty as she was assessed $35 for speeding and had her driver's license suspended for 15 days. Mrs. Coakley was found guilty of traveling down Witherspoon Street, a 25 mile per hour zone, at a speed exceeding 60 miles an hour.

Thomas Jones, 18, of Lawrenceville, was charged $5 for driving without a license while John C. Van Cleve, 21, of Carson Road, was penalized $10 for driving through a "stop" sign. Wade Little, 23, of 58 Birch Ave., was dismissed on a speeding charge but paid a $10 assessment for a noisy muffler.

Rodney Kidd, 22, a resident of Hightstown, was found guilty of driving through a red light and was fined $10. Eighteen-year-old Ronald Simpson of 11 Dickenson Street was charged $15 for careless driving. He turned too widely off Williams Street and struck a parked car.

THE WINNER

Portable TV Set Awarded.
Holding ticket 1843 in the raffle conducted by Princeton Country Day School as part of its annual fair won a portable television set for Mrs. Ralph Grove, Province Line Road.

Proceeds from the fair, staged May 17 on the school grounds, will amount to approximately $2,700. The sum goes toward the PCD Building Fund.

PRINCETON FARMS PLANNED
Homes Can Be Seen. A new suburban development, Princeton Farms, has been started on the original grant for the Drake homestead in Hopewell Township by Colonial Construction of Princeton Inc. Hilton Realty Company of Princeton Inc. has been appointed exclusive sales agent for the homes and will show the three models to those interested at any time.

The development is located on 230 acres where the Pennington-Rocky Hill and the Moores Mill-Mount Rose Roads meet. The site is almost equidistant from the Socony Mobil Research Laboratory and the Western Electric Engineering Research Center. Prices start at under $25,000 with excellent financing available. The three models available are: the "Mercer," a three-bedroom Garden Style Box; the "Westcott," a side-to-side Colonial split level; and the "Stockton," a four-bedroom Cape Cod. All models have fireplaces of old brick, two-car garages, basements, cream heating units, Grambling fixtures and Vanity Fair kitchens with color GE appliances. Princess dishwashers, push button counter-top stoves and even-levell, built-in oven-broilers.

Outdoor Art Exhibit. Artists from this area will display their work in an outdoor show Friday and Saturday in Palmer Square. The public will receive an opportunity to vote for the picture it considers the best in the show.

The winner will receive a 130 picture frame donated by The Little Gallery. The exhibit, open to all artists living within a 20-mile radius of Princeton, is sponsored by the Princeton Jaycee Chapter and PMI. Milton Nickles will serve as chairman.

ADVOCATES LIFESAVING—UP TO A POINT: Swim expert Christina Van Horn (left) is a professional lifesaver, but he draws the line when it comes to persons who have committed crimes calling for capital punishment. Princeton senior Alan Bianco, on the other hand, is opposed to capital punishment, thinks life imprisonment serves society's purposes better. For other opinions, see Question of the Week below. (Town Topics Photo by Alan Richards)

Question of the Week

Question: How do you feel about capital punishment? (suggested by Mrs. Hugo A. Bedeau, 221-A Halsey Street).

Location: University campus and downtown.

Christopher Vao Horn, 2518
Pennington Road, Trenton, swimming and lifesaving instructor at Princeton University: I believe in capital punishment. With all the dope peddlers and other potential criminals we have around these days, I think we ought to stick with the death sentence. I don't care whether it's hanging, the electric chair or what.

Alan Bianco, 40-50 Patton Hall, senior at Princeton University:
That's not an easy question. But I think the purposes of society could just as well be served by life imprisonment which would get dangerous people out of the way. Of course, there is the deterrent factor, but it seems to me that anyone who would attempt a major crime would do it anyway regardless of the possible punishment.

John Falken, 263 1/2 John Street, cook: It's hard to find a solution to that question. Sometimes the death penalty is necessary when a person is a real menace to society and should be eliminated.
In other cases, I think capital punishment might be invoked when necessary.

Miss Sally Kittredge, 1117 Gary Drive, Baltimore, student: I favor capital punishment as the penalty for brutal murders and I think it should be extended to cover rape and other serious crimes.

Albert Simpson, 13 Maclean Street, taxicab driver: It depends on the individual case or crime.
I'd leave it up to the judge. With the ten out of ten who killed it people—I think he should get the death sentence. For cold-blooded murder, the electric chair is okay.

Mrs. Philip Golden, 707 Princeton-Kingston Road, housewife:
I'm against it. There are discussions of and on about the subject with no real result or opinion coming out. But somehow this just doesn't seem right to take another person's life deliberately.

Gabriel B. Lahiere, 45 Palmer Square, automobile dealer: I'm in favor of it. My theory is that, if you do wrong, you ought to be punished accordingly. One of our big troubles is that our system of parole is too easy. Prisoners who have committed murder too

Death Penalty "Anti-Social"

The House Judiciary committee of the New Jersey Assembly, currently considering two bills that would drop the death penalty for first degree murder in the State, this past week heard public officials and criminologists lend overwhelming support to the legislation.
Instead of capital punishment, the new bills would substitute life imprisonment and prohibit parole within 30 years.

According to data presented by the speakers, capital punishment no longer deters crime, and, in fact, has become "an anti-social process." A close study of death penalties in different States has showed "the futility and uselessness of capital punishment." It was pointed out that "others" sentenced for murder generally make the best prisoners and best parolees and that, in States without the death penalty, crime has not increased, sensationalism at trials has decreased and the disposition of cases has speeded up.

Two Princeton policemen, who asked to remain anonymous, pooh-poohed the proposed changes in New Jersey law, said they thought "more criminals ought to be given the chair." Too much tax money is being spent on fancy prisons, fancy food for prisoners, salaries for wardens and guards, plus other related items, they contended.

often get paroled in too short a time. Threat of capital punishment is the only way to keep the number of serious crimes under control.

James L. Briener Jr., 52 Patton Avenue, school teacher: Capital punishment rates my endorsement. Many crimes deserve capital punishment as their punishment—not just murder, either.
Some crimes are so brutal that anything less than capital punishment would not be enough.

ROLLING IN DOUGH

The Delft Mrs. Dorf. For the woman who is a good cook, home enterer offers a pleasant way to express one's talent and pick up a little pin money on the side. There are many of these good, semi-pro cooks in Princeton today but the pioneer in her field is Mrs. Erling Dorf who has been making bread and rolls for Princeton hostesses for almost 15 years.

Bread Dorfs' career as a home-baker is characterized by alternating periods of activity and retirement. When her bread and rolls are sold on the open market they attract so many customers that orders pile up faster than Mrs. Dorf, who works without help, can fill them. At present, she has with-drawn her products from the half-dozen local markets where they used to appear in open stock, and now produces only on order.

"You get to you're a piece of dough yourself," she laughs, recalling the 75 dozen rolls turned out on each of four baking days a week. "There was even one day when I made 135 dozen. That must have been before a Yale game..."

The bread-making began when there was a flurry of public alarm over bleached flour. Mrs. Dorf decided she would buy unbleached flour and use a recipe cut from the New York Herald Tribune to make her own bread.

Things went on from that point, until Mrs. Dorf's "Home-Made Rolls" became the label that hostesses looked for when they wanted to prevent their guests with a very special treat.

The label, of course, calls to mind a plump little grandma turning out bread in between bouts with a knitting needle. Little, too, charming, Mrs. Dorf does not resemble her label in the least, but she found that it helped to sell rolls to women who had not tried them before. The first label guarantees all subsequent sales.

In the laboratory, Mrs. Dorf has a commercial stove with two giant ovens, metal mixing bowls almost a foot and a half in diameter and a wooden kneading square two feet across. "I don't use a kneading machine," she says, "do it all by hand."

The process starts before breakfast when the milk goes on the stove to boil. Whole milk, eggs, butter and unbleached flour — these are the ingredients that produce the light creamy yellow little rolls. Mrs. Dorf has reduced her cooking to a science, cutting out non-essentials ("I don't stir") working out a table of proportions that shows how much of what to use for how many rolls, using a stubby three-inch paint brush for melted butter ("Imagine my using one of those little pastry brushes!")

She has bridged her kitchen and pantry for mass-production, but the individual, home touch remains. "I always taste, to see if I've forgotten sugar or salt. I have to be very precise, of course, but I find that a drop of too much on the wrist is still the best test for temperature."

When I first began, I used to handle that dough as though it were a newborn baby. I treated each single roll so gently, sculptured each one by hand, you know. Then I watched some men making bread in a factory and the way they pulled and tugged the dough around! So now I throw it around, too, and it doesn't seem to matter."

AHEAD ON THE DOUGH: When Mrs. Erling Dorf makes bread and rolls, she makes them in hotel-sized batches, bakes them and puts them in her freezer for future use. In this picture the dough has risen and begun to overflow its bowl. Now Mrs. Dorf will knead it and cut it into rolls, using a custom-made cutter, modeled after the family heirloom silver napkin ring that used to be her cutter before mass-production set in. A GOING CONCERN—AND HOW! June 2 was a significant day in the history of Marsh & Co., 30 Nassau Street, for it was the day Squibb & Co. presented the Princeton pharmacy with a plaque commemorating its 2 millionth prescription. Miss Marguerite McClenaghan, co-owner of Marsh's, whose grandfather bought the Nassau landmark 100 years ago this fall, accepted the award from W. L. Garrity (right) of Philadelphia, representing Squibb's. On hand for the ceremony were Wehnert Lander (left), Marsh's president, shown holding the plaque, and S. Russell Willard, manager of the pharmacy. Miss McClenaghan noted that her firm actually has filled many more than 2 million prescriptions, though only that number had to be substantiated for purpose of the award. An unknown but good-sized total of the prescriptions are still held by the office spindles pictured above. (Alan Richards Photo)

The bread that was originally made for the Dorf family still appears occasionally on the dinner table but not so often as it once did. "They got tired of it," the baker explains, "and they groan. Oh, no, not again!"

But, aside from satisfied customers, it is the small Dorfs who have been their mother's best agents. The story is told of Bobby Dorf, ten years old at the time, who had lunch at the house of a friend.

He looked closely at the bread offered by his hostess and asked, "Is this Mrs. Dorf's Home-Made Bread?" His friend's mother said, well, no, it didn't happen to be. "Sorry," said Bobby. "I never eat anything else."

SHOPPING CENTER AUCTION

What Am I Bid? The first of a series of "Kids Kash" auctions will take place at the Princeton Shopping Center Saturday, June 21, at 2:30. Center stores have been issuing sales receipts redeemable for "Kids Kash" coupons for the past month and these coupons will be used for bidding on toys, dolls, games and sporting equipment.

Sales checks from stores displaying the "Kids Kash" poster may be turned in for coupons at the exchange center on the east side of the Mall. The center is open Thursday and Friday evenings from 6 to 9 and Saturdays from 10 to 5:30.

Frank Ford, carnival talker, will conduct the first auction where more than 75 items of merchandise will go under the gavel to the highest bidder. Items include a boy's and a girl's bicycle, a wrist watch, two dolls, a tent, baseball equipment, a badminton set, LP records, toys and games. Prospective bidders may view the articles which are now on display at the shopping center.

YMCA DAY CAMP SEASON

To Emphasize Sports. Boys and girls from 6 to 12 may enjoy this summer at the Princeton YMCA day camp. It is in its second year of operation at the Hun School grounds under the direction of George Povallitis. He has been assistant coach of football, basketball and basketball during the past year at the high school and is now employed by the Borough Board of Education as a teacher of health and physical education.

A bus will pick up children at the Nassau Street and Valley Road schools between 9 and 9:15, with other locations to be scheduled depending on enrollment. Competent leaders who have had previous experience in day camping will be in charge of the various groups.

A special physical development and sports instruction program, for the boys in particular, is the outstanding new addition to the camp's activities. Swimming in—

Let me tell you what I saved when I drove a new Plymouth...then bought one!

Just like a lot of other people, I was putting off buying a new car...even though we sure needed one. Then I found out what my Plymouth dealer was offering in the way of low prices and really big trades.

Mister, when I saw what I saved I knew there was no use putting off any longer! Got more for my old car than I believed possible. (Plymouth dealers need used cars and can sell all they get!) Got a terrifically low price on the new Plymouth...and choice of models besides...hard-tops, sedans, convertibles, wagons.

And I saved a cool $140 on the ride alone! Plymouth's top-luxury ride, Torsion-Aire Ride, is standard at no extra cost, while you have to pay up to $140 for the top ride of competing "low-price 3" cars.

What's more, I got the car that proved it can save me gasoline, by winning the 1958 Mobilgas Economy Run. A car with Silver Dart Styling that is so far ahead right now it will still be worth more when I trade. With the kind of easy handling that makes every minute of driving a downright thrill! The stamina to stand up without nagging adjustments and big repairs...a car as much better built as it is better looking!

Any wonder I quit waiting? Take my tip...get your Plymouth bargain right now.

Today's best buy...tomorrow's best trade... Plymouth struction, crafts, games, nature and the "Mystery Trips" will again be included. Those interested should apply at the YMCA, 320 John Street.

Library Sets Summer Hours. Until September 1, the Princeton Public Library will close Saturdays at 1. Regular hours prevail on the other days of the week with the library open until 8 Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday nights.

The Saturday morning story-hour held in the children's department has been discontinued for the summer months. From July 7 through August 25, the department will sponsor a story hour each week at the various playgrounds. Schedules for this program will be posted at each location.

SUMMER RECREATION SET

Staff Completed. Mrs. Charles W. Lusk, chairman of personnel for the Playgrounds Committee, has announced the completion of the recreation staff for this summer. Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Davis are to be her assistants, and C. Edward Christian will serve as supervisor of the program which includes the community championship tennis tournaments and the junior baseball league.

The United Community Fund now Princeton Borough and Township finance the program, for which the season begins June 30. Activities on the playground will be offered for eight weeks with the wading pools remaining open for nine weeks.

The Harrison Street park will be under the direction of George E. Dixon, assisted by Miss Martha Moore. Miss Marilyn Warner and Mrs. Anna Leverenz will be in charge at Marquand Park, where Wesley Samuels will be junior assistant.

The Jugtown playground on Edinboro Avenue will be under the aegis of Mrs. Alice M. Ryan, whose junior assistant is Miss Ann M. Kearney. James Briner will head the high school playground activities with Miss Linda Brown as junior assistant. Robert W. Sunkley will be director of the Valley Road School playground, assisted by Miss Anne Wieroff, with the Littlebrook School playground to be under Vincent O'Hara, director, and Miss Mary Lou Kahny, junior assistant.

Jessie Hurd will be in charge of the John Street wading pool and the Pine Street pool respectively. Mrs. Anne Lanahan will be handicraft director and Bernard E. Bergesen, Jr. will supervise the junior baseball league. A story program is being arranged by Miss Margaretta Bear, Princeton librarian.

YMCA SUMMER PROGRAM

New Features Planned. The Princeton YMCA's summer program will include this year an outing club for teenage boys and girls which will meet each week to plan trips, hikes, picnics, horseback riding and other activities. If interest warrants, a similar group for young adults beyond high school age will be formed.

Because of the great interest in the midget baseball league, boys between the ages of 9 and 12 may have instruction in baseball skills Tuesdays at 10 on the high school field. The Y will furnish bats, balls and bases, as well as instructors. Regular games will be held at the same place at 11 Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays for boys under 13.

Richard Swinerton, freshman tennis coach at Princeton University, will offer instruction to both youths and adults, with regular informal play provided for Tuesdays at 6:30 on the high school courts. At present, classes are held Saturdays at 9:30 for boys and girls and at 11 for adults.

The Y's "in town" vacation program also includes a hobby club for boys, horseshoe pitching for boys and men, landscape painting for adults and swimming instruction for boys. Day camping for boys and girls under 16 and resident camping for boys under 16 will begin June 23 and June 21 respectively. For further information and details, those interested should call the YMCA at WA 4-3630.

BOOK GIVEN TO LIBRARY

World Federalists the Donor. A copy of "World Peace through World Law" by Grenville Clark and Louis B. Sohn has been presented to Princeton Public Library by Harland W. Hoisington, Jr., president of United World Federalists, Princeton Chapter.

According to Mr. Hoisington, the book is the first fully detailed volume explaining the type of institutions which are essential for the establishment of effective world law. The book contains a plan for disarmament, for U.N. charter revision and for a strong international police force, but it does not claim to have all the answers, according to Federalist spokesmen.

Report from THE MAYOR

The Experts Said "No". Mayor and Council sat down last week with members of the Board of Trustees of the Public Library and their professional advisory committee for a final discussion of the Stearns-Simpson building as a possible library site.

The governing body listened to the views of University Librarian Dix, Seminary Librarian Gapp, State Librarian McDonough and Township Librarian Hughes and accepted the negative decision of the Board. Township Committee of the Stearns-Simpson building, present for the meeting which ended on the realistic note that major capital funds for the "ideal" library for the Princeton community seemed to be some years away.

With a Special Guest. Last week's conference session of Mayor and Council was visited by the Honorable Abdul Hakim of Pakistan, a participant in the Foreign Leadership Program of the United States Government.

Council President Coyle introduced Mr. Hakim as the "Sam Rayburn of Pakistan" by way of describing his important position. After the Speaker had listened to a long discussion of urban renewal with members and staff of the Housing Authority, he said he was "impressed by the equanimity of the deliberations on such important subjects."

At The Deadline. The papers were beginning to fall in place as the urban renewal deadline arrived. The so-called Workable Program was getting its final revisions and the Final Project Report was being put together by the Housing Authority.

The Planning Board OK'd the tentative street alignment as being in conformity with the Master Plan of the Borough. The Citizens Committee of the John-Witherspoon Area turned over to the Mayor and Council the detailed questionnaires that they had completed as part of the study of housing needs of families in the affected area. Much work remains to be done, especially in solving the difficult problem of relocation of more than twenty families, but it appeared certain that the "paper work" could be done in time to meet the Federal deadline.

Taxis. Taxicabs are an especially important part of Princeton's transportation facilities, and their activities are regulated by ordinance. The Finance Committee of the Council serves as the licensing committee.

Last week, the Mayor, the Borough Clerk, and the Finance Committee met with a large group of the taxi owners to discuss matters of mutual interest. Councilman Lester's committee will have number of questions for study and report to the Council.

Idle Cash. Councilman Lester has also been studying the bank balance of the Borough to determine whether some funds can be put to work to earn some return until they are needed to meet Borough obligations. He has sought the advice of the auditor and the bank, among others, in an effort to insure sound management of the Borough's cash.

A Full Calendar. These are busy weeks for municipal officials, with meetings sandwiched between commemorations and other special events. Last week, along with those previously mentioned, was the monthly Mercer County Traffic Safety Council session; a visit with Dr. Paul Limbert, Secretary of the World Federation of YMCAs here from Geneva; and, of course, the very wonderful Hospital Fete last Saturday.

Thursday Open House. Again this week, the "Tell It to the Mayor" session will be Thursday, 7 to 10 p.m., at Borough Hall. No appointment is necessary.

AMERICAN FOLK PAINTINGS University Museum to Exhibit.

An unusual collection of American provincial paintings, done mostly by anonymous painters between 1780 and 1855, is on display at the Princeton University Art Museum through June 30. Edward D. Baliken, a member of the class of 1897, assembled the 65 oil paintings and watercolors which consist largely of portraits and also include several landscapes. A trustee, Mr. Baliken has given the collection to the University.

Many of the works come from the Berkshire Hills in Massachusetts and the surrounding area. Sarah E. Harvey, who claimed in 1919 to have painted about 1000 pictures in 64 years, is represented by two landscapes, one dated 1855 and the other done around 1877.

The collection offers work done in provincial areas often quite remote from the metropolitan centers, with none of the well-known portrait painters of the period represented. Some of the artists were presumably itinerant painters who were trained as coach and sign painters and who would also do portraits on order; others were local painters. The paintings reveal skill in design, love of color and a fine sense of decoration, according to Prof. Ernest T. DeWald, art museum director.

Some of the landscapes show a knowledge of the literary and artistic taste of the times shown in neo-classic figures and the romantic subject matter. "The Village Common," painted by an anonymous artist in 1780, shows a prophetic vision of the Empire State Building in the background church spire.

Daughters of Scotia to Meet. Tristram Lodge No. 220, Daughters of Scotia, will hold its regular meeting Friday evening at 8 in the Odd Fellows Hall, 23 Witherspoon Street.

Mrs. Charles Cook, Chief Daughters, will welcome Guest Deputy Mrs. Ann Robertson from Bonnie Doon Lodge No. 10, Newark, who will make her official visit to the local Lodge. Visiting members from New Brunswick and the Newark vicinity will be welcomed. Mrs. John Henderson will head the refreshment committee.

AFS STUDENTS PICKED Princeton to Play Host. Alfred Bussell Jr., chairman of the Princeton American Field Service Committee, has announced that three exchange students from France, Japan and Turkey will spend the academic year 1958-59 with Princeton families. A large

OPEN TO PUBLIC
New House On Display. Long in the planning stage, expansion of Shady Brook Estates became a reality this past week as Princeton Construction Company put its newest model home on public display. An unusual split-level structure, the model is located on the old Gulick farm property along Shady Brook Lane, which will be extended to connect with Overbrook Drive by summer's end.

A spokesman for the building firm, responsible for 60 houses in the first sections of Shady Brook Estates several years ago, said the subdivision will become one of the larger new residential communities in this area with construction of 140 individually designed residences on 1.5-acre grounds in the Gulick tract. Sales will be handled by the Shulzise Agency of Princeton.

The new development, rising on a sloping tract overlooking Lake Carnegie, will offer varied designs. The overall concept of Shady Brook Estates calls for five and architectural planning in keeping with the residential traditions of a university town. Homes will be priced from $33,500 to $50,000.

Buyers will have a choice of stone or brick front exteriors, and will enjoy the benefits of finished streets and all utilities, including city sewer and water systems. The sales program will accent the use of famous brand name materials and equipment featured in Life magazine, such as Owens-Corning Fiberglas comfort conditioning and baths by American Standard.

MODEL HOME BOASTS MANY MODERN FEATURES: Built by Princeton Construction Company, this new Shady Brook Estate model home has, on its ground level, a large foyer with guest closet, a 20-foot finished recreation room with fireplace opening on a patio with barbecue pit in the rear, a study or den that can also be used as a bedroom and a full bath. The first floor level includes a 24-foot living room with bay window, a full dining room with archedway and a kitchen with built-in wall oven, counter top range, dishwasher and formal top cabinets. The second level has a spacious master bedroom with walk-in closet, two other twin-sized bedrooms and two complete baths.

five others currently are being built under contract in the pre-scribed price range. The model, an eight-room, three-bath dwelling constructed on three levels, will be open for inspection from noon to dusk each day.

Gus and Carl Geler, the gentlemen behind Princeton Construction Company, are well-represented in the Princeton area, having built the Overbrook subdivision, most of the houses in the Riverside section, 23 homes in Princeton Manor and Scott Terrace. Also, they have erected a number of individual residences here.

THE IVY INN

New Boss, New Look, New Name. Pressing enough hammers in enough hands had borne enough hours, proprietor Peter Sannino will have The Ivy Inn open for business at 254 Nassau Street by the time this issue of Town Topics reaches Princeton homes Thursday morning. A complete renovation project was nearing the frenzy stage as the people "went to bed."

People familiar with the address will remember The Ivy Inn location as Golden's Tavern, which Mr. Sannino purchased from Mr. and Mrs. William W. Golden last month. But, when they drop ground to take a look for themselves, that's all they will remember. Proprietor Sannino and his cohorts have changed the place from front to back, top to bottom and side to side.

After changing the name, in give his establishment a ring that should attract customers from both sides of Nassau Street, the new owner ordered the front door moved from side to west side, the long bar shoved from half way back in the tavern in the very front and the show window remodeled to signify the "ivy" theme that is maintained throughout the premises. Only the near-legendary photo of a real Princeton tiger was retained—in its traditional perch behind the bar.

Where no stools and few tables existed before, Mr. Sannino has installed 15 cushioned stools with comfortable backs and provided chairs and tables for a seating capacity of 60 patrons. A low-cost, white enameled tile dining has been constructed and brand-new mahogany paneling has been enhanced handsomely by strips of appropriate "ivy" wallpaper. The floor is now covered with green and white marbled tile.

Food and Mixed Drinks. To effect a full transformation, the owner has built an ivy-sprinkled partition between the barroom and a cozy rear lounge, providing both areas with high jukebox speakers and situating the television set at the front end of the bar. Indirect lighting is already in operation, with air conditioning scheduled to follow in several weeks.

Lavatory facilities have been renovated, including the addition of a sitting room for the ladies—all compliments of Sannino's Plumbing & Heating, of course. A refrigerator and a king-sized cigarette machine have been added to meet the requirements of today's tavern conveniences.

Proprietor Sannino said the new policy of the new business will call for a complete menu of food—all three meals—and mixed drink in the bar. Hours of The Ivy Inn will range from 7 a.m. opening to the prescribed midnight closing.

Edmund Cole and the owner's brother, Anthony Sannino, will serve as tavern managers. The lion's share of the renovation was rendered by carpenters Charles McHugh and Alfonso Robertelli, with an assist from painter W. A. Rose.

NEW ASCOF DIRECTOR

Elected at Vital Time. William H. Jackson, formerly of J. H. Whitney Company, New York, and one-time special assistant to President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles, has been elected a director of the Applied Science Corporation of Princeton, electronics development and production firm. Announcement of the selection apparently came at a significant time, for ASCOF has experienced its business up-and-downs in the past year and Mr. Jackson, by long reputation, has been associated consistently with

As news of Mr. Jackson's choice was made known, another ASCOF director received the usual downtown lip-service. This time, informed sources reported that the Princeton man is on the verge of selling his Hightstown Road plant to the Union Fund of Steel Workers of United States Steel, which, in turn, would lease portions of the building to ASCOF and RCA, the present tenants. "No comment" was ASCOF's official reply to questions pertaining to the rumor, though it is believed the purchase will develop several weeks hence.

Mr. Jackson was a managing partner with J. H. Whitney when he retired from the investment banking organization in 1936. While on leave from the New York company in 1955 and 1956, he served as special assistant to Mr. Dulles for the foreign ministers conference at Geneva and then as special assistant to President Eisenhower for national security affairs.

Mr. Jackson graduated from Princeton University in 1924 and Harvard Law School in 1928. He was a senior partner specializing in corporation law at Carter, Ledyard & Milburn, New York, before he joined J. H. Whitney in 1946. His residence is located on Princeton Pike.

STRING EXTENDED

Belz Beats Yale Again. If big Herman Belz, red-thatched right-handed Princeton pitcher, hurts two of three games against Yale next spring as a senior and wins them both, he will hold the distinction of being the winning pitcher over the Elis in the 91-year old series.

When he trimmed them, 10-1, last Saturday in New Haven on a neat four-hitter, he raised his record to three victories and a 4-1 tie. Two more in 1959 would give him five triumphs plus the tie, a mark that even records go back into the last century would very likely fail to match.

One reason for this, of course, is the fact that only recently (from the start of the present decade) have the teams met in three regularly-scheduled contests. For many years before and after the first World War, a third game was played only if the first two had been split. That in itself made it impossible for any pitcher to win more than two a season, and to top Belz' potential record of five victories, any predecessor would have had to have beaten Yale twice as a sophomore, junior and senior.

Last spring, Herm very nearly beat the Blue, then Eastern League champions, in his first appearance against them. Errors cost his victory and he had to settle for a 4-4, 10-round, rain-curtailed tie.

Two Victories in June. A year ago this month, the rugged right-hander from Haddonfield pitched a 4-2 triumph over Yale at New Haven and the following Saturday, trimmed the Elis, 9-2. That was in the Commencement week-end contest, with the sun broiling away to produce 100-degree heat on University Field.

Both Belz and a trio of Yale pitchers yielded 14 hits, but the Princetonian paced himself so well that seven of the losers' blows came after two were out and the 12 runners he stranded were indicative of his ability to bear down when necessary. That one went into the books as a 9-2 victory, and made Herm the first Princeton pitcher to trim Yale on successive June Saturdays in 15 years.

Home Run, Help. Whatever else its failures this season, the Tiger nine has pounded out more home runs than any since the championship outings of the early '50's which boasted such sluggers as Will Prior, Jim Fairchild and Jack Blessing. Mike Ippolito got his fourth at New Haven last Saturday and Dick Edie his third of the year to pace the Tigers to a 10-1 romp over the Blue.

Ippolito's smash came in the second with Pete Crispo aboard and gave Princeton a lead it never lost. Edie's was a grand slam operation in the eighth and put a lot of icing on the cake.

Belz won in a breeze, adding five walks to his four hits but fanning seven and finding two double plays helpful. In addition, the defense played one-error ball, its second showing of the season in this department.

Seaman on Saturday. Good as his record is against Yale, Belz won't face the Blue this Saturday. Captain Ed Seaman, a stand-out left-hander when he's at his best and gets the support he deserves, is the logical choice for the final game of his Princeton career.

Seaman lost to Yale in May, 3-2, but only because the sieve-like defense committed three errors behind him in one inning. The victim of repeatedly poor support this year, he nonetheless compiled a fine 1.17 earned run average in league competition. Given anything like the all-around support that Belz got last week, Seaman is a solid bet to top Yale this weekend. Game-time is 5 p.m., following the annual alumni parade down Prospect Street to the ball park.

MORE SILVERWARE

* Net Title for PHS. Having put away its trophy and medals for winning an amazing runner-up tie in the State Interscholastic tennis tourney, Princeton High's racket squad this past week wound up its 1958 campaign by collecting a much-deserved silver plaque. The last but not least award represented their triumph in the Central New Jersey championships conducted last Wednesday in Princeton and Thursday in Red Bank.

Actually, victory in the Central State meet was predicted for Coach John Arcsott's Little Tigers inasmuch as they had mowed down all Central Jersey opposition during their regular league campaign. But the title matches could not be taken light because the hoop—consisting of Red Bank High, Red Bank Catholic, Freehold, Asbury Park, Rumson and Middletown as well as PHS—proved a most even one this spring.

By virtue of their 6-0 record during the league schedule, the Little Tigers remained idle until the championship semifinals. Then, they defeated Asbury Park, 5-1. Freshman Alan Tucker, playing No. 1, took his opponent, 7-5, 6-2, and junior Pete Epstein followed with a 1, 6-0 triumph in the No. 2 slot. Steve Lockwood lost the third singles battle, but doubles combinations of Tucker and Epstein and Lockwood and Ralph Harrison won in straight sets.

In the final round, PHS toppled Red Bank High, 4-1, thereby avenging last year's title setback by Red Bank Catholic, which lost in the semis this time to its next-door neighbor, Tucker, who was beaten only three times, in '58, and Epstein, taken only twice, each captured his singles assignment, then got together for another doubles victory. Lockwood suffered another defeat, but success was already assured—and the second doubles match was called off as darkness prevailed.

PIRATES VS. RED SOX

Midget Series Foes. As predicted some weeks ago by observers of the YMCA Midget Baseball League, the Pirates of Plainshore and the Kiwanis Red Sox are World Series opponents for 1958. They were scheduled to start their best-of-seven struggle at Brookaw Field this Wednesday—having been rained out Monday—and will wind up the season at 6:15 p.m. this Friday and next Monday (if necessary), also at Brookaw.

Sponsored by the Plainshore Lions Club, the flashy Pirates finished their second straight undefeated campaign to top National honors (they were beaten only once in last year's World Series). The Red Sox, succeeding the Ori-

TOMMY PETRONE
Hun School Athlete

By the time young Tommy Petrone had completed his Junior high career at Witherpoon School in June of last year, Princeton sports observers agreed "a natural athlete" was budding fast. He had starred on many fields of endeavor, climbing his final campaign with a pair of two-hit pitching victories over Princeton Country Day School.

Last summer, as a performer in the Junior Baseball League, he continued to exhibit his athletic versatility. In a single game, he hurled for a while, shifted over to short-stop and, finally, wound up behind the plate. His batting average at season's end was .550-plus.

"Both his mother and I were pretty fair athletes in our day, though my parents would never sign permission slips to let me play in high school," father Frank J. Petrone, 15 Erdman Avenue, commented this week. "His three sisters are excellent swimmers and his brother Jack, oldest of the five children, has been wonderful at sports," the popular text operator added. (Brother Jack, a Township patrolman, earned four varsity letters in one year at Pennington Prep after captaining both the football and basketball teams at Princeton High. He hoisted a distinguished athletic record in the Army, later won a trout with the St. Louis Cardinals, established underwater swim records and, most recently, excelled as a softball performer here.)

Tommy, who won't be 16 until mid-August, really started to bloom this past school year. Only a freshman, he ranked as Hun School's No. 2 varsity quarterback and saw a lot of valuable action. He made the Red and Black's top varsity five in basketball, earning top-scoring honors on several occasions and winding up one of the team's high-point men. At possibly his best sport, baseball, he was the Johnny Hunt' variety shortstop — a sure "glove" demonstrator, afield, a steadily improving .275 batter and a rare student of the rules.

By way of emphasizing their appreciation of his talents, Tommy's teammates elected him captain of Hun's '59 baseball club, an unprecedented accolade for a sophomore-to-be. The modest hometown product also was voted president of the sophomore class for the year ahead and finished his freshman year with near-honor roll grades.

With summer approaching, Tommy Petrone this week was looking for new athletic fields to conquer. Apparently, he has found at least one, for he will be wearing the baseball uniform of the Princeton Athletic Club as one of the most youthful performers in Tri-County League annals.

with the A's to take a 14-1 decision and cinch second place. Elsewhere in the American, the Indians defeated the Tigers, 8-6, the Yankees beat the Tigers, 8-1, and the Orioles overcame the Yankees, 11-2. In the National, the Dodgers downed the Braves, 6-4, the Braves edged the Redlegs, 8-8, the Giants also stomped the Redlegs, 11-3, and the Cardinals whipped the Dodgers, 8-5.

League President B. E. Bergen announced that a meeting of all Midget loop managers will be held at 8 p.m. next Monday at YMCA headquarters, 102 Witherpoon Street.

THREE TO GET READY: After congratulating his co-captains-elect for 1959, Princeton High Track Coach Win Niles discusses the Little Tigers' inability to score any points against torrid group III competition in last Saturday's 40th annual State Meet—a most unusual occurrence—and considers ways to improve the situation next spring. The chosen 17-year old leaders are sprinter Wyn Jennings (left) of Lawrenceville, who got as low as 10.2 in the 100 and 22.5 in the 200 in '58, and pole vaulter Roger Nicoli, 247 Western Way, who got as high as 10 feet 6 inches in his specialty. Three season's end notes: PHS actually scored 17 1/2 points in the Central Jersey Meet two weeks ago, good for sixth place (not 7 1/3 for ninth); senior Roger Wells ran his best 880, a 2:04, yet failed to qualify in the State Meet, and Highland Park, Princeton's toughest dual foe, easily won group II honors. planship tennis tournaments sponsored by the Playgrounds Committee, an agency of the United Community Fund, swing into action Monday on the University's Church Courts.

There is no entrance fee and all Princeton area residents are eligible for the Boys, age 13 or under, division; the Junior Boys, 18 and under; or the Junior Girls, age under 18 bracket. Entries for the two-week tourney will be received at the Princeton Y.M.C.A. or by John R. Arscott at Princeton High School.

Bass Season Opens Saturday. Licensed fishermen of New Jersey may test their angling skills against both the Smallmouth (Black) bass and the Largemouth (Oswego) bass during the official bass season which opens Saturday and runs until November 30, the State Division of Fish and Game has announced.

Under the 1958 Fish and Game Code, the legal minimum length for both types of bass in all waters is nine inches. The daily bag and possession limit is not more than five in the aggregate.

With the opening of the bass season, fishing for all species of fresh water fish is permitted 24 hours daily except in waters designated as fly-fishing waters in the Fish and Game Code.

Horse Show This Weekend. The 15th annual horse show staged by the Princeton Riding Club will take place Saturday and Sunday on the club grounds at the foot of Bayard Lane.

Riders of all ages and abilities will compete, with numerous jumping competitions featuring the two-day event. The show is open to the public.

ATTENTION: DUFFERS

Miniature Tourney Set. Sportsmen (and women) of the Princeton area, who may be interested in trying to qualify for the first world championship of miniature golf, were urged this week by Bob Grobe, director of Bob's Golf Driving Range in North Brunswick, to pursue the goal at his emporium. Eliminations will be conducted from now until September 1, with the actual championship matches scheduled for September 6 and 7 in Asbury Park.

To become the miniature golf representative for a 20-mile area around Bob's Golf Driving Range, as they may earn a crack at the world tourney, participants must play 25 qualifying rounds on Bob's course. The person record-

Colman's Sad Song: A Dozen Are Gone

Diploma-time brings mixed emotions to football coach Eric Colman. He's glad that the players with whom he has worked for three years have achieved their primary purpose in coming to Princeton by earning their degrees, but he's perplexed over how best to replace them as cogs in the intricate gridiron machine charged with defense of the Ivy title next fall.

When the Class of 1958 joins the alumni body next Tuesday through participation in graduation exercises in front of Nassau Hall, 12 of its members will be those who helped the Tigers to a fine 7-2 record in football last fall. Six of them were regulars, including Captain and quarterback Jack Sapoch; tailback Tom Morris; guards Dave Grubb and Art Bents; tackle Bob Casciola and end Jim Valuka.

Morris, although only 22, has been a tailback for 13 years. His gridiron career began in fourth-grade football in his home town of Columbus, O., and carried through Columbus Academy, where the single-wing is played, and into four years at Princeton.

Others to go will be reserve backs James Amesey and Bob Bryer; tackles Steven Ball and Julie McCaul, and Wally Miller and center Paul Nyström. Also among the missing next fall will be two other members of '58: regular wingback Jim Motley and reserve tackle Lou Brinamide, whose academic careers were cut short of graduation by disciplinary action last month. Motley was a triple-threat who will be especially difficult to replace, the more so in view of plans to switch his immediate reserve, big Mike Ippolito, to quarterback.

Grobe, a PGA golf pro and one of the originators of the world championship idea, said golfers must be 16 years of age or over to enter the competition. His range is located at the intersection of Livingston Avenue and Route 1 in North Brunswick. The Asbury Park tournament, he said, will feature a number of big prizes and will be covered on network television.

Also to attend the high school is Kunita Iida from Japan, who will live with Dr. and Mrs. V. Terrell Davis, 8 Parkside Drive. Guliz Sarmat from Turkey will live with Mr. and Mrs. William H. Scheide, 133 Library Place, and attend Miss Flier's School. All three students will arrive here in early August.

Service Academy Exams Set. Senator Clifford P. Case has announced plans to hold a Civil Service examination on July 14 in order to select his nominees for the United States service academies.

The Senator is authorized to nominate one principle and ten alternates for the Air Force Academy; two appointees for the Naval Academy; one for the Military Academy; and ten for the Merchant Marine Academy. All appointments will be for the class entering in the summer of 1959.

The examination is open to all residents of the State of New Jersey who will be between the ages of 17 and 22 by July 1, 1959. Those desiring to take the examination should write Senator Case at Room 341, Senate Office Building, Washington, D. C. The Senator will inform all applicants of the time and place of the examination.

Vacation Calendar Available

The 1958 edition of "New Jersey Events Schedule," a 40-page booklet listing nearly 1200 colorful events and activities planned in the Garden State this year, is now available from the Department of Conservation and Economic Development.

Commissioner Joseph E. McLean of Princeton describes the new booklet as "a pocket-size vacation calendar of events." The popular publication contains information on everything from the 34th Annual National Maritime Tournament in Asbury Park next week to flower shows and beauty pageants.

The booklet is distributed free of charge from the New Jersey Department of Conservation and Economic Development, 230 E. State Street, Trenton 25, New Jersey.

AND IT'S MINE, ALL MINE: The word "mold" is unknown in the children's art classes conducted by Ruth Sharon, 50 Deerpath. Each child works out his own patterns, shapes his own clay and follows his own creative urges. Gordon Moore, left, holds a scrap-book with a hammered copper foil cover. Susan Shaw, right, displays the free-form bowl that she designed and painted herself. Teddy Green, standing, put two tiles together so he could paint a bigger locomotive. "I MADE IT MYSELF"
Small Pleasures Have Show.
Last Sunday about 300 parents and friends attended the year-end show arranged by children enrolled in Mrs. Ruth Sharon's art classes. The adults were asked to write down their comments on the work they had seen and the most frequent comment was, "I wish I'd had this as a child."
The 40 children who work with Mrs. Sharon each week learn to handle various media—clay, oil paints, enameled, charcoal, raffia—but the work they do is absolutely their own without a pattern of any kind. Even the bright felt moccasins begin from a tracing the child makes of his own foot.

"My aim is to let children acquaint themselves with every media," Mrs. Sharon says. "I teach them how to handle their tools, but all the rest is freedom. And there is no competition; the work of each child is displayed and nobody is judged against anybody else."
The boys and girls, ranging in age from five through 12, spend their two hours a week in a studio which has been converted from the Sharon's master bedroom. In this studio, they watch with excitement while Mrs. Sharon fires their enameled-copper —Continued on Page 28

STRANGE WEEN
For Mixed-Up League. Nothing went according to Hoyle in the Princeton Community Softball League this past week. One decision was reversed because a team used an ineligible pitcher. Two games weren't played last Thursday, despite good weather, and two games were played this Tuesday, despite rainy conditions. To top everything else, a pair of clubs with National Guard-bound personnel waged a contest that isn't scheduled until June 24.
The miscellaneous results failed to alter the loop standings in any marked degree. Cenerino's A.C., the red-hot rookie outfit, lost a 9-0 forfeit tilt to the Sportsmen, but rallied Tuesday evening to shade Town Topics, 8-7. Nassau Social Club and Sannino's, deadlocked in second place a week ago, remained tied as the former well-oiled Town Topics, 1-0. The Princeton Orioles defeated ASCOP, 10-4, then were beaten by the Sportsmen in that "June 24 encounter," 4-3.

Cenerino's forfeiture, perhaps the most significant development of a confusing week, was caused by the team's use of pitcher

Mack Brockington, the New Brunswick fireball whose unorthodox delivery resulted in an earlier suspension. Despite its knowledge of the suspension, the loop-leading nine chose to employ Brockington's services (he actually hurled a nifty two-hit 4-0 shutout)—and therefore prompted the 9-0 reversal.
PCLSL standings as of Tuesday evening, based on all results submitted so far:

Cenerino's A.C.	4	2
Nassau Social Club	4	3
Sannino's	4	3
I-A Sportsmen's Club	6	6

if you're a claustrrophile, DON'T CALL!

We have nothing to say to people who like cramped spaces. But at the feeling of walls pressing in on you is something you prefer to live without. Let us talk. We have a house that has plenty of room and light and air. Surprisingly enough, you don't have to be a bank president (or even his son) to own one. It actually provides more space for less bucks. We'd like to explain and show you our concept of a new type of light-hearted living that we deeply believe in — the Techbuilt House.

SHADY BROOK ESTATES

8 room 3 bath individually-designed homes

Shady Brook Estates is Princeton—a residential community created to the pace and pattern unique to this university town. Savor the qualities of this distinctive new environment overlooking Lake Carnegie.

Privacy. Dignity. Quiet. Unostentatious elegance. It's exactly right for people for whom the word Princeton connotes a way of living far better than most.

The homes are crafted to meet highly individual requirements. Every dwelling is custom in tone, different in look. One prevailing quality links them all—excellent workmanship. Go through our exhibit home. Study its detail carefully. Discover the care and craftsmanship that mean a more easily maintained and managed home, a home whose comfort grows with the years.

Set on grounds from  $\frac{3}{4}$  acre upward. Here is a glimpse of the layout and features—

GROUND LEVEL

Gracious foyer with guest closet. 20 ft. finished recreation room with fireplace opening on patio in rear—a study or den (or bedroom if you choose) and full bath. Patio with barbecue.

FIRST FLOOR LEVEL

THE Provincetown
Two-Story Colonial

$15,950 Complete, Including Full Basement, Breezeway and Garage

*$93 a month***

Co-Op Price $13,750

*$77 a month***

**Approximate monthly cost*

Beautiful Colonial-style house with breezeway and garage. Eight rooms, including: 3 comfortable bedrooms, 1 1/2 baths, large recreation room, sewing room, big living room and formal dining room. Modern kitchen with G.E. Dutch oven and table-top range in your choice of color; birch cabinets. Colonial-brick facing on lower front half of house. American Standard heating and plumbing. Fiberglas insulation and 1" oak hardwood floors are just a few of the luxury features included in price.

Now you can own a custom-built Designed for Living house with no money down, your lot will serve as down-payment. A $200 good-faith deposit, refundable at completion of house, is all the cash you need! All closing and legal fees can be included in the financing. Long-term, low-interest mortgages are available. See us today and bring in your deed!

Our special Co-Op Plan will save you even more money! We do all masonry work, erect the complete shell and supply all the materials for you to do your own inside finishing. Or, we'll build any house to any stage of completion, from shell to package.

Designed for Living will build from your own plans or ideas, or you can choose from our hundreds of designs. Any house can be built to fit your individual needs and budget. Come in for a free, no-obligation estimate on your home-building requirements. Write for free literature.

MORVEN PLACE COLONIAL

for $87,000

A wonderful, lovely family home once, this gracious Colonial on one of Princeton's prettiest streets, with redevelopment, could be just that again. All the basic rooms are large and conveniently laid out—impressive paneled living room, airy dining room, library, playroom off the kitchen, 8 main bedrooms (many with fireplaces), four baths—and the extras, such as maid's suite on the third floor, innumerable closets, storage—and a heated greenhouse—are there to be used as needed. The beautiful grounds are large and secluded, with plenty of space for parents to relax and children to play. Both will love the little winding walks through hemlocks and climbing roses that end in tiny "secret gardens."

FINE FURNISHED RENTAL. Lovely modern home. Living room, dining room, playroom, 4 bedrooms, modern equipment, perfect privacy, little upkeep—$350.

FINES AND PRIVACY REDUCED FOR QUICK SALE

to $26,000

The outside of this conveniently located house looks comfortable and solid; the inside is both but lots more too. Surprisingly attractive and roomy, it has a charm all its own. Perhaps this comes from the pretty living room with fireplace and dining room with two corner cupboards. It could be the French doors which open from the dining room into a lovely little flagstone-floored screened porch partly shaded by impressive old evergreens. Maybe it's the combination of a settled air with a modern kitchen and air-conditioned recreation room. Perhaps it's the unusually attractive, privacy-providing lot. Whatever it is, the house would make a happy, and, at this completely realistic price, economical home.
